Hugo. All the new books received as soon as issued at Bowen, Stewart & Co's.

Fire.-The alarm of fire, early vesterday morning, was caused by the burning of a tenement on the canal, owned by Ann Turner, a negress, and famous in the local history of the city. It was for many years used as a low assignation house, but was tenantless at the time of the fire. It was entirely consumed, together with an adjoining building occupied by a negro named Joe Allen. Allen's furniture was saved. The alarm was first communicated from the lookout on the city building.

THE 20TH BATTERY .- The 20th battery will go into camp to day, on the ground near the Lafayette depot. The time for recruiting is short, and young men who desire to go with this battery, which we confidently believe will be a credit to our State, had better hurry up. The recruiting office will still be kept at the rooms of the American Express, where some one of the officers will always be found to give any information concerning the company that may be desired. #### STATUTES OF INDIANA.

GAVIN & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Mesers. Gavin & Rord's compiletion of Indiana Statutes has just appeared. This volume completes their work. Its mechanical execution is ver creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the editors have bestowed on it, merit the highest praise. None but learned, diligent lawyers could have produced

The second volume embraces all the public statutes of Indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it relates, and the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compilation that all existing statutes on each subject are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in force on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also print, in the form of notes on the same pages containing this statute, all the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of all the other acts contained in the revision of 1852.

umes-especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These notes indicate much labor and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and accurate form, with all the adjudications of our Supreme Court on these statutes. These adjudications being now very numerous, the references to them in the volumes under consideration, will be of great value to the lawyer, and indeed to all persons concerned in the administration of justice. The editors have also referred, in their notes, to numerous decisions in other States, made on statutes similar to ours.

An excellence of these volumes, not to be overlooked is the full and accurate index appended to each. In Indiana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedied in the volumes under review; and these indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes. This is the first time that private enterprize has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The attempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprising publishets. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the peace of the

with which these volumes have been prepared. The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the statutes will be found a necessity to every lawyer, Justices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is a private enterprize, and the publishers' only hope for remuneration is in its sale to those for whose convenience it was prepared. The two volumes contain about 1600 pages of matter, nearly double the quantity embraced in

The price of the work is $4 50 per volume, or $9 00 for the two volumes. Orders addressed to the subscriber wil receive prompt attention. J. J. BINGHAM, Indianapolis, Ind. June 7th, 1862.

NOTICE. To British Subjects in the State of

JUMEROUS REPRESENTATIONS HAVING BEEN made to Her Britannic Majesty's Legation at Washington, and to her Her Majesty's Consulates, by British subjects resident in the State of Indiana, to the effect that they are apprehensive of being included in any draft for the military service of the United States which it may be found necessary to make in that State, I have been in-tructed by Her ajesty's Charge d'Affaires at Washington to proceed hither with the view of endeavorforces, 1,800 strong, finely equipped and mounting to remove those apprehensions.
I beg, therefore, to assure all bond fide British subjects who have never in any way forfeited their allegiance to Her Majesty, nor violated her proclamation of neutrality by enlisting in the military or naval service of the United States during the present war, that they need be under no apprehension of being included in any such draft, if they take the precaution of providing themselves with proper proofs of their nationality.

As the best mode of procuring such proofs, I would suggest that every bona fide British subject resident in this State should, in case of a draft being resorted to, furnish himself with an affidavit of his nationality, properly sworn to and attested before a Notary Public, and

There is no reason to doubt that such papers, if produced before the officer who might be appearant to consider claims of exemption, would, if found satisfactory, exempt the claimant from all liability to be called on for military duty in the United States. I would also suggest that it would be advisable for British subjects wishing to pass beyond the limits of the State, or to cross the frontier of the United States, to
